Course Objective:
Majority of companies in economy are Family Businesses. However, current estimates hint that only 13% of family businesses can continue their operation at third generation, mostly due to problems experienced during Succession & Transfer of Power. Making a successful take-off for next generation is critical in sustainability of family businesses.

The goal of this course is to examine the elements of Succession & Transfer of Power in Family Business environment. Also, after taking charge; next generation members are generally having a challenge of re-energizing entrepreneurial spirit of company. Issues related with entrepreneurship will be discussed.

There will be guests from family businesses to support class discussions with the kind help of TAIDER.

Learning Outcomes:
Upon successful completion of this course, students should be able to:
1. Demonstrate an understanding of the nature of Family Business
2. Understand perspective of Current Generation
3. Demonstrate an understanding of succession dynamics
4. Understand perspective of Next Generation
5. Make an introduction to Transfer of Power dynamics
6. Make an introduction to re-energizing Entrepreneurial spirit of company

Academic Honesty: Learning is enhanced through cooperation and as such you are encouraged to work in groups, ask for and give help freely in all appropriate settings. At the same time, as a matter of personal integrity, you should only represent your own work as yours. Any work that is submitted to be evaluated in this class should be an original piece of writing, presenting your ideas in your own words. Everything you borrow from books, articles, or web sites (including those in the syllabus) should be properly cited. Although you are encouraged to discuss your ideas with others (including your friends in the class), it is important that you do not share your writing (slides, MS Excel files, reports, etc.) with anyone. Using ideas, text and other intellectual property developed by someone else while claiming it is your original work is plagiarism. Copying from others or providing answers or information, written or oral, to others is cheating. Unauthorized help from another person or having someone else write one’s paper or assignment is collusion. Cheating, plagiarism and collusion are serious offenses that could result in an F grade and disciplinary action. Please pay utmost attention to avoid such accusations.

If ever in doubt, consult these eight rules of academic integrity (proposed by Northwestern University):

1. Know your rights: do not let other students in your class diminish the value of your achievement by taking unfair advantage. Report any academic dishonesty you see.
2. Acknowledge your score: Whenever you use words or ideas that are not your own when writing a paper, use quotation marks where appropriate and cite your source in a footnote, and back it up at the end with a list of sources consulted.
3. Protect your work: In examinations do not allow you neighbors to see what you have written; you are the only who should receive credit for what you know 4. Avoid suspicion: Do not put yourself in a position where you can be suspected of having copied another person’s work or of having used unauthorized notes in an examination. Even the appearance of dishonesty may undermine your instructor’s confidence in your work.
5. Do your own work: The purpose of assignments is to develop your skills and measure your progress. Letting someone else do your work defeats the purpose of your education, and may lead to serious charges against you.
6. Never falsify a record or permit another person to do so. Academic records are regularly audited and students whose grades have been altered put their entire transcript at risk.
7. Never fabricate data, citations or experimental results. Many professional careers have ended in disgrace; even years after the fabrication took place.
8. Always tell the truth when discussing your work with your instructor. Any attempt to deceive may destroy the relation of teacher and student.
