Course Description

This course introduces the students to certain fundamental texts and key discussions in Western philosophy. It does not require any background in philosophy, but through a rigorous exploration of some of the key debates in the history of philosophy, it provides a comprehensive overview of the development of Western philosophy and of its defining moments. The readings are selected from the Ancient Greek, Hellenistic, Medieval, and Enlightenment periods, when some of the classical discussions of philosophy have been articulated; and they represent discussions from different philosophical areas, such as moral philosophy, philosophy of being, philosophy of knowledge, and political philosophy. The discussions are presented with emphases also on their historical context, on their relationship to the intellectual climate of their time, as well as on how they contrast with the opposing views on the same question.

Course Requirements and Grading

Grading:

Attendance: %10
Participation: %10
In-class Quizzes: %15
Midterm: %30
Final: %35

Attendance (%10):

Class attendance is mandatory. Attendance follow-up starts at the end of the add-drop period. After 2 unexcused hours your attendance grade will fall by 1 point with every unexcused absence. (That is to say, with 3 unexcused absences you get a 9/10, with 4 you get 8/10, etc.) Students who miss 9 hours of class in total will receive a “0” for their attendance grade.

Absences for medical reasons are to be documented with a doctor’s report, and acceptance of medical reports are due to instructor approval.

An absence may also count as excused in case a life situation that you need to attend arises: in such cases please email me beforehand, if possible.

In order to take a make up exam, the medical report must be submitted within 3 days after the original exam date.

Participation (%10):

Thoughtful and meaningful participation in class and during the discussion sessions is expected and highly encouraged. Students should share their thoughts and questions on the material, during the lectures, discussion hours, office hours, or via email to the instructor or the course assistant. In order to get full participation grade, a student is to contribute to class at least once every week in one of the ways mentioned above.

Outstanding contribution to the class and proof of engagement with the course material beyond course requirements may bring your final course grade up by half a letter (thus bringing it up from a B- to a B, for example), at the instructor’s discretion.

In-class Quizzes (%15):

There will be unannounced quizzes during lectures. There will be no make ups for missed quizzes. If a student is absent on the day we have a quiz but they have emailed me before class to let me know about their excuse, that quiz will not be included in their quiz average. Anyone who is absent without an excuse will automatically get a zero on that quiz. At the end of the semester everyone’s lowest quiz grade will be dropped.

Midterm and Final Exams (%30 and %35):

Midterm and Final exams will be held face to face.

Papers with plagiarism issues will be graded F, and your semester grade may be F depending on the severity of the offense.

The offense may also be referred to as the University Ethics Committee.
